Mr. James C. Welling, President of the Corcoran - Gallery of Art Washington.

Dear Sir,

Mr. E. F. Andrews of your City took a great interest in a new painting by Andreas Achenbach, when he was in Düsse-eldorf this summer and would show it, having been returned home to your city to the trustees of the Corcoran Gallery of Art in a photographical copy, which he took with him. This painting is judged to be a first rate specimen of the great artist, as Mr. Andrews will confirm, who can evidence, that all the artists and connoisseurs agreed that Andreas Achenbach never painted a better picture. We think the picture might be worth to represent the celebrated painter in your gallery. Having got no news from Mr. Andrews until now, we beg to enclose another photograph of the picture.

The size of the picture is 105 Centimeters high and 135 Centimeters wide; the price is 4000 Dollars. You would oblige us, dear Sir, if you kindly would let us know, whether you have in view to purchase this painting for the Corcoran Gallery. In case you do not, there are some other Galleries, which want a good specimen of Andrew's then-bad, and we shall not offer it to them, before we get your answer. Of course we can not keep the picture unsold, if there comes a buyer in the mean time, but we shall not endeavour to sell it.

Hoping, dear Sir, that by and by we will be able to offer you some prominent paintings for your Gallery, we remain, Yours very respectfully

J. C. Schultz.

Dear Sir:

Mr. Vail writes us from Paris and seems to be very anxious as to the whereabouts of his painting. He tells us that it is still in the Custom House in New York.

Will you kindly let us know if there has been any hitch in the shipment, as we would like to do what we can for our friend Vail.

Sir!

We take the liberty to hand you herewith a photograph after a picture by Prof.
Andreas Schenbach, 'Sinking of the American Steamer, President' in 1847, which we beg to offer you for the Corcoran Gallery. - This picture, painted 1848, is one of the chief-works of Andreas Schen-bach and one of those pictures, which founded his high reputation as marine-painter. It was in a very fine private Gallery in Austria till now, from where we received it for sale, because the owner died. - Although you have yet
